We cordially invite you to the opening on Sunday, March 1, 2020 at gallery MooiMan male-art for the exhibition “The dark male model, Forbidden words”.

With this exhibition Galerie MooiMan shows the dark man in art as a variant of the exhibition “Le modèle noir” that was on display in Paris in July 2019. With the exhibition, the gallery wants to enter into a discussion about how currently various museums in Europe want to show their collections politically correct, such as the Rijksmuseum and the Amsterdam Historisch Museum that deleted words like “The Golden Age”. Words, titles of works of art, a struggle in cultural-historical awareness that has to do with how art deals with racism and discrimination against non-white people.

With these “forbidden words” the exhibition has a discussion piece by the work of the Ugandan painters Ocom Adonias and Matt Kayem that show the stratification of this exhibition. Because the painting by Ocom Adonias “Forbidden Words” shows the vulnerability of the African man from a completely different culture, also a struggle but then with forbidden words linked to a search for identity and sexual expressions.

The exhibition will be opened on Sunday March 1, by sculptor Marcel Julius Joosen and Axe Leito, Mr. Leather 2019 and Amsterdam Pride 2020 ambassador. The gallery is open to the public from 3 PM. The opening will take place at 4 p.m. Welcome.
