Folds ...

Cora Samethini (born 1942) is a sculptor who lives near the gallery. Folded forms play a prominent role in her work, alongside abstracted figures. She describes many of her sculptures as “two parts with something in between.” She works with natural stone, bronze, and wood, and has also created several installations.

Only some of her work can be called “male art,” but this exhibition is a tribute to her work and as a much-valued local resident.

... dirty little drawings ... bodyparts ... en pencil drawings ...

In addition to her work, we are exhibiting “Dirty Little Drawings” by Fernando Madera Alvarado (born 1983) from Mexico. Using acrylic ink markers, he creates fascinating work that requires time to fully appreciate.

The figures in these works were drawn from models during sessions with the “naked drawing group.”

The long format evokes an emotional and spiritual resonance of a fleeting moment. Like an echo on Japanese rice paper, the fleeting becomes permanent.

The photographs of Jan griffioen (1942-2022) complement the work of Fernando Madera. Jan was a master at photographing body parts, and he didn't shy away from eroticism. He was our second exhibitor in 2007 in our gallery.

In the garden room, the walls are covered with drawings by Peter Schauwecker (1936-2022). These drawings are independent works of art, but were often also studies for later watercolors and paintings. Peter had a few regular models, such as Klaus (especially in the 1980s), Florian, and Gerd.
